A WOMAN'S PISTOL.

Hiram Killen Shot Twice in a Row With Jane Fox.

The Matter Has Been Investigated by the Grand Jury Now in Session.

It the multiplicity of shooting scrapes that have occurred since the grand jury assembled one that occurred in the Pembroke neighborhood last Saturday night was in a measure overlooked. A rumor of the trouble reached the KENTUCKIAN a day or two ago, but not until today could a correct account be obtained.

Principal among the participants in what seems to have been a free fight were Hiram Killen and a woman named Jane Fox. The trouble occurred at a colored festival about two miles east of Pembroke. Both Killen and the woman used pistols and several shots were fired on both sides. It is not known for certain whether other parties used pistols or not, as there was a general row. Killen was shot twice, one ball taking effect in his arm and the other in his hand. His wounds were not such as to disable him and he at once skipped out and has not been heard from since.

During the melee a bystander known as "Slick," was struck by a stray ball and a quart bottle of whiskey was broken in his pocket. The bullet was stopped by the bottle and "Slick" sustained no more serious damage than the loss of his liquor.

The Fox woman has appeared before the grand jury and was permitted to return home. No report has been made on the case and it is not known what action was taken, though the natural conclusion is that no indictment was found.

Britishers Register a Kick.

Newport News, June 15.—(Special.)—The British element of the crews of the fast cruisers Yale and Harvard threaten trouble. They refuse to go to sea because the two Trans-Atlantic liners were converted to men-of-war, which they claim violates the terms of enlistment of the American line.

ADMIRAL KIRKLAND

To Retire on July 3 and Make Room for Sampson's Promotion.

Washington, June 14.—Acting Admiral Wm. T. Sampson, commanding the naval forces operating in the West Indies, whose actual rank in the navy is that of Captain, will become a Commodore on the third proximo by the statutory retirement for age of Rear Admiral Wm. Kirkland, commandant of the Mare Island, Cal., navy yard, who is now the ranking officer of the navy.

REAR ADMIRAL KIRKLAND.

In addition to Admiral Kirkland, five other Admirals will retire during the next few months by operation of the law on account of age. They are Admiral Jos. N. Miller, commanding the Pacific station; Admiral Montgomery Sicard, President of the Naval War Board; Admiral E. O. Matthews, President of the Examining and Retiring Board; Admiral F. S. Bruce, commanding the New York navy yard, and Admiral G. S. Norton, commanding the Washington navy yard. With the exception of Admiral Miller, all of these officers are likely to be retained in their present places after their retirement during the continuance of the war with Spain because of the non-availability of officers on the active list to take their places. Retired officers are subject to duty of this kind in time of war at the discretion of the President.

I., June 15.—Special.—The June session of the general assembly convened here yesterday and at noon there was voting for a United States Senator for six years from March 4, 1899, to succeed Nelson W. Many Would-Be Subscribers.

Washington, June 15.—(Special.)—The regular subscription to the bond issue received at the State Treasury yesterday amounted to $43,000. This morning subscription began in earnest, there being many patriotic citizens in at the beginning of business.

French Cabinet Has Gone to Pieces—Another Crisis in France.

Paris, June 15.—(Special.)—The Cabinet this morning determined to place in the hands of President Faure the resignations of the entire membership.

There is talk of M. Ribot's being called upon to form a new ministry.

FIGHTING EACH OTHER IN THE ABSENCE OF SPANISH ENEMIES.

Old Point Comfort, Va., June 15.—(Special.)—A riot occurred at midnight last night, at Phoebus, one mile from here, between the First Maryland Volunteers and the regulars from Fortress Monroe. Over 300 were fighting in the streets and the police were powerless. This morning it is learned that the regulars stopped the trouble and arrested 75 of those engaged in the fight. Two men are in the hospital from injuries received.

Two More Marines Slain—Bad

Results of Shatter's Delay.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 15.—(Special.)—The second attack of 3,000 Spanish upon the 900 marines entrenched on Crest Heights, Guantanamo Bay, began Sunday night and continued until Monday at daybreak. The bodies of fifteen Spaniards were discovered. The marines still hold their ground. The Marblehead has been re-enforced by the Dolphin to protect the marines. Two Americans were killed and at least 2 wounded.

There is some conflict as to the precise nature of the casualties on the American side.

One report says that Sergt. Maj. Henry Goode and Private Tauman were killed, the former by a bullet and the latter by a fall from the cliff, and that four privates were wounded. Another report gives the killed as two marines and the injured as Sergt. Maj. Goode and Private Tauman.

Government Wants More Ships.

New York, June 15.—(Special.)—The Government is endeavoring to obtain fifteen additional transports for the Porto Rican expedition. Two Spanish prize ships, the Pedro and Guido, will be retained as transports.

Evansville, Ind., Memphis, Tenn., and Fulton, Ky., all claim to have felt an earthquake shock Tuesday morning.

The American flotilla now enroute to Santiago, consists of 49 vessels, 14 of them warships, and the army aboard numbers nearly 15,000 men.

It must have made the American gunners at Havana mighty mad to be bantered for a fight by the Spanish and to be prevented by "orders from Washington" from accommodating the insolent don.

Count Castellane, who married Anna Gould, is not so much of a dade after all. He cleaned up a Paris editor yesterday in a sword combat, for accusing one of his servants of infanticide.

Mrs. Stewart L. Woodford, wife of Gen. Woodford, American minister to Spain, arrived this week from Havre on the French line steamer La Bretagne with her daughter, Gen. Woodford was at the pier to welcome his wife and daughter, and escorted them to Brooklyn.

Gen. Gomez, who is still "beefing," has gone, it is said, to "assist the American invasion at Santiago," but really to prevent Gen. Garcia from becoming too prominent as an insurgent leader. Gomez is jealous of Garcia's increasing popularity.

The war revenue bill was signed by the President promptly and is now the law of the land. The tax on both tobacco and beer is doubled and the increase on many other articles is very heavy. Wars are expensive, but we must have them occasionally.

Refugees arriving at Kingston from Havana say that the most abject conditions prevail in Havana. People and horses are dying in the street for want of food, and Blanco is making a vain endeavor to secure provisions by assisting vessels to run the blockade.

The expression "Hobson's Choice" originated from the custom of Tobias Hobson, a liverman at Cambridge, who claimed to give his patrons choice of forty horses but invariably gave them all the same horse. "Hobson's Choice" as now used means the only choice to be taken.

Admiral Montejó, the Spanish commander at the battle of Manila, has been heard from at last. He says he had nothing to fight with, although he had constantly asked for better ships and torpedoes. He put up the best fight he could against heavy odds, and let his ships go down rather than surrender.

An ex-Confederate soldier, who has a son in the Second Tennessee Regiment and has grown very patriotic over the present war with Spain, is responsible for the following verse:

Fitz has joined the Yankees,
Joe Wheeler's donned the blue;
If they furlight the civil war,
Why, darn it, I kin too.

Anguinado, the Philippine insurgent leader, in a proclamation to his followers, has commanded them to observe the rules of civilized warfare. He says the United States will help them win their freedom from the tyranny of Spain, and that they must act in a way to secure the respect of this country. He warns his men that those who disobey will be shot.

P. D. Armour, the man Leiter forced to deliver him $1 wheat at 85 cents last fall, has now come to the front again and has bought all of Leiter's cash wheat in the northwest, amounting to 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 bushels, and may take up all the rest, about 3,000,000. There will apparently be little difficulty in winding up Leiter's deal, inasmuch as it is authoritatively stated that more bids have been received for A1 cash wheat than Leiter has. There is a fair prospect that Leiter's creditors will lose nothing.

ITEMS STOLEN AND COMPILED

The June term of the Federal Court is in session at Frankfort.

Dr. R. L. Bone, a leading physician of Madisonville, has gone to New York to locate.

Owensboro's park is to be opened at night in future, arrangements having been made for lighting it.

The recruiting officer at Owensboro secured twenty-two volunteers to fill vacancies in the Third regiment.

The Owensboro Canning Company put up the product of 210 acres of peas. It turned out 15,000 cans per day.

At Mayfield Mrs. Edith Carney filed a $25,000 damage suit against Sam Clark, who is charged with her husband's murder.

Councilman Will Eads, of Paducah, against whom charges of bribery were preferred, has demanded an investigation.

During the past week twenty-two patients for surgical operations were received at the Illinois Railroad Hospital at Paducah.

The Lawrence Telephone Company, at Ashland, filed articles with the Secretary of State increasing its capital stock from $12,000 to $24,000.

Col. Alexander Hogeland has caused the Lexington Ministers to become interested in a movement to secure the passage of a curfew ordinance.

There is a scheme on foot in Lexington to get rid of all teachers who have been in the schools for ten years in order to make room for new teachers.

It is believed at Frankfort that the Court of Appeals' decision in the Prison Commission case will be accepted by both sides and the case will not be taken to a higher court.

The town of Wickliffe recently voted in favor of the sale of liquor. The Commonwealth Attorney has now filed a suit to prevent the city council granting any such license.

A "blind tiger" operator at Beaver Dam attacked the editor of the Gleaner because his paper was fighting the illegal sale of liquor. The newspaper, however, continues the fight.

A Montgomery county child, born last week, will have to struggle through life with the name "George Lafayette Sampson Dewey Lee Botts."

William Moore, aged 71 years, of Boone county, Kentucky, has laid in bed for 36 years. When about 9 years of age his spine was injured by a fall from a horse, producing partial paralysis and rendering him helpless for life.

John Becker, a white man, about fifty years old, who on April 8 killed Myrtle Huffmeister, aged sixteen, was lynched by a mob this week at Great Bend, Kan. The girl refused to accept the advances of Becker, and this is the cause of the tragedy.

The truth is out at last and the naval portion of the war is about over, unless the United States becomes aggressive and goes across the ocean to destroy the Spanish reserve squadron. Admiral Canaris has notified his government that his squadron is insufficient to meet the Americans and it is probable he will not court certain destruction, but remain at Cadiz indefinitely. Spain seems to be in the middle of a very bad fix and if the war is not very speedily ended it will be owing to the mismanagement of the American side of it.

W. R. Hearst, owner of the New York Journal, has sued the New York World for $500,000 damages for publishing a statement that the Journal's dispatch boat, Buccaneer, had been seized for having on board complete plans of the defenses of Florida harbors, the intimation being that the Journal was attempting to aid the Spanish. The suit has brought out the fact that the Buccaneer is in effect a government vessel through Mr. Hearst's generosity. It looks like Mr. Pulitzer would have to put up something.

Should Speaker Reed's nephew be expelled from Madrid, the Spaniards will expect a large addition to the Spanish indemnity.

Queen Natalie's offer of a hospital ship to Spain seems to indicate Natalie's opinion that a great many Spaniards are going to get hurt.

Santiago would doubtless prefer any number of native earthquakes to the American earthquakes that have arrived there by sea and land just now.

It is said that schoolmasters in Italy are applying for places as chimney sweepers. It is likely that the Spanish schoolmasters have been in that business for a long time.

George Washington has just been hanged in Texas for murder. Can't something be put into the Constitution that will protect our great names from promiscuous application?

The English are annoying William Waldorf Astor by still regarding him as an American. Not being regarded in America as an American, and not accepted in England as an Englishman, what is Mr. Astor to do? How little the generality of mankind can realize the sorrows of a millionaire.

There is beer in the regimental "canteen" of the volunteer army, and the alarm that beer is perilous in the tropics will scarcely frighten any American soldier. Indeed, there are many men who, while they might hesitate to go in front of a cannon, would never flinch before beer or whiskey of any kind whatever.

Miss Willie Hicks, speaking of the "thralldom of woman," said to the assembled editors at Eureka Springs: "But now the ark of that hoary covenant of masculine stupidity and the fetters of woman's genius at last lie broken at the feet of a higher and nobler civilization." Miss Willie, however, admitted farther on, that "they of that rugged and unfortunate gender have many lovely traits of character, and are yet a necessity in the economy of the world."

Gave "Fighting Bob" Evans His Sobriquet.

Captain Robley D. Evans, of the battleship Iowa, did not win his title of "Fighting Bob" in the Civil war. He won it as a cadet at Annapolis, and merely clinched his right to it in the war.

When Evans entered Annapolis as a youth there was a rule that no cadet should hang pictures or ornament on the walls of his room.

The purpose was to prevent sons of wealthy parents from making a display which the poorer cadets could not emulate.

When Evans' trunk was carried to his room the first thing he did was to take from it a brass-headed nail and a framed Bible text.

Standing on his bed the new cadet hammered the nail into the wall with a convenient shoe. He hung the text on the nail, and was standing back reviewing it with his head on one side when an officer burst into the room.

"Take that thing down!" he shouted.

"What thing?" demanded Evans, with his hands in his pockets and his chin advanced.

"That—that picture thing," spluttered the officer.

"'Tisn't a picture," said Evans, convincingly.

"Take it down!" roared the officer.

"Go to blazes!" retorted Evans.

The officer thought his dignity might be compromised if he attempted to enforce the order. He reported to the officer of the day. That officer summoned Evans before him, explained the rule and ordered him to take down the text.

Evans said his mother had asked him to hang the text on the wall of his room, and his mother's wish was more binding on him than a military order.

"The text will hang there as long as I am a pupil of the academy," he said firmly.

The officer of the day referred the matter to the commandant. Evans stood firm, and the commandant made a report to the Navy Department. A letter came commanding Cadet Evans to at once lower the text.

Evans stood pat. Other officials wrote letters, and finally the Secretary of the Navy himself ordered that the text be removed.

Evans wrote to his father. The senior Evans wrote back for Bob to stand by his text, and if it should be taken down to pack it in his trunk and come home.

Mr. Evans, Sr., told the church people about it. They held an indignation meeting, and the leaders wrote letters to their Congressmen. The newspapers got hold of it. The Congressmen asked questions in the House, and letters by the bushel poured in on the Secretary of the Navy.

The rule was not abrogated, but a quiet wink was passed down the line, and Bob Evans' Bible text stayed on the wall.

The cadets of the academy gave the lad the sobriquet of "Fighting Bob," and it has hung to him ever since.

Still Fighting on Credit.

Governor Bradley has received no orders as to when the two battalions will be organized under Colson. They will probably move the first of next week. He has telegraphed to Washington, Senator Lindsay and the entire Kentucky delegation, asking that the Second and Third regiments be paid at once, as they have been enlisted now more than a month, and their families need the money.

New War Joke.

Mr. Jno. W. Shaffer, the popular clerk in the general freight office of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, Louisville, is the author of a new joke in which the present war heroes, Dewey, Sampson and Schley figure.

The joke is simply this: Dewey 1. Sampson 02. Schley 022.

The Rev. Dr. Sam W. Small, of Washington City, the celebrated evangelist and lecturer, will preach at the Walnut Street Methodist church on Thursday evening, June 16, at Paducah. Dr. Small was converted under the ministry of Sam Jones, and they were co-laborers for a number of years. He is now engaged in editorial work in Washington in connection with his evangelistic labors.

TWO MORE ARRESTS.

A Sequel to the Garrettsburg Shooting Saturday Night.

Coroner Allensworth returned last night from Bell, Ky., having in charge Wesley Gant, colored, accused of complicity in the murder of Joe White. He was lodged in jail. The Coroner also placed Dave Cowherd, colored, under arrest on a similar charge, but released him on bond, with Dr. John P. Bell, his employer, as surety. Both men are accused by Albert Haskin, now in jail, of having been implicated in the killing of White. Gant resisted the officer and was brought to town by the Coroner in irons.

The grand jury entered upon an investigation of the case today to a large number of witnesses present.

Shortly after the notice was received the negro drove up and Marshal Cartright arrested him. Mr. Radford came on later paid the cost of arrest and took his man and horse and wagon back home. It is Mr. Radford's opinion that Blakeley did intend to steal, but simply wished to return to his old home up in Logan and preferred riding to walking these hot days.
